Rogers Hedges On Yes Or No Answer

Seale Gauntlet Down

By TROY MARTIN

Republican Candidate Jack Seale this week challenged Incumbent Walter Rogers to a television debate.

Contacted at his office in Washington by The Canyon News, Congressman Rogers declined a yes or no answer.

"I'm not going to let the Republicans run my business for me," the congressman declared.

Rogers was asked if he had received a letter from Seale challenging him to a debate.

"Yes, I received the thing but I didn't know about a challenge to debate," Rogers replied. "That thing came in yesterday."

Rogers said the letter had to do with the discussion of certain issues.

"I expect to discuss all the issues with the people when Congress adjourns," Rogers went on. "As I told you in Canyon, I'll discuss issues with anyone."

"I'm not going to let anyone else run my business," the Congressman continued. "If the Republicans want to run my business for me, they're not going to do it."

"Mr. Rogers, I have an obligation to fulfill to the people who subscribe to The Canyon News," The News reporter interjected. "The issue I called you about is whether or not you would be willing to debate the Republican candidate on television."

"Can you give me a yes or no answer?" No such answer was forthcoming.

Congressman Rogers said he expects to go on television when (See SEALE, Page 7)

Counsel Says Flooding Was "Act Of God"

Canyon city commissioners Monday night denied liability in the flooding damage of a floor furnace in the George Small home at 2415 Sixth Avenue.

In a letter to the commission, Small contended that flooding caused by inadequate drainage damaged his floor furnace.

He submitted a bill for $62 spent on repairing it.

City Attorney Truett Hull told the commissioners that the damage was brought about by "an act of God" and that the city was not responsible.

Members of the commission voted to correct a typographical error in documents involving city easement on Twenty-Seventh Street.

The city heard members of the newly formed Canyon emergency unit outline plans for the future of the unit. (See COUNSEL, Page 7)

Canyon Emergency Unit Formed By City Firemen

Canyon is to have an emergency unit, according to an announcement made this week by A.J. Haley, Jr., Canyon fire chief.

Haley said the unit has been formed from among members of the fire department. Purpose of the unit primarily will be to handle special emergencies. Members of the unit will receive special training, Haley declared.

They will work with the fire department and law enforcement agencies in event of emergencies such as serious automobile accidents, drownings, aircraft crashes, accidents at the state park and in other situations in which personnel with such training might be required.

Eight members of the unit are Jack Jennings, Bill Sternberg, Gerald Warwick, Bill Brundage, D. B. Lowes, Jim Christopher, Roland Hicks, Robert Rice and Chief Haley.

Members of the unit will be getting specialized training in first aid, water rescue, aircraft hazards and general rescue work.

Equipment for the unit will be furnished jointly by the city and fire department.

Members of the department are purchasing an electronic siren, public address system and a hydraulic rescue kit.

Plans for the future include a used stationwagon for use of the department, a resuscitator and possibly other items needed.

"Members of the department voted unanimously to form the emergency unit as they feel there is a great need for such a trained group due to the increasing growth of the city and area," Chief Haley declared.

Wheat Farmers Voting Today

Randall County farmers will vote on wheat marketing quotas today.

The 1963 wheat crop referendum on marketing quotas will be held Aug. 30, according to Paul Read, Randall County ASCS office manager.

Polling places include Community "A", Canyon, ASCS office; "B" Sunny Hill-Fairview, Ralph Switch Elevator; "C", Jowell, Jowell Community Building; "D", Umbarger, Umbarger School Auditorium; "E", Highland, John Plank's quonset barn; "F", Trigg-Zita, Kearns Grain and Seed at Haney Switch; "G", Stone, Lynn Bennett home.

Polls will open at 8 o'clock in the morning and close at 6 o'clock in the afternoon.

Double Parking Means Trouble Says Caldwell

Double parking around school buildings will be prohibited this year, according to L. D. Caldwell, chief of police.

Caldwell said the ban is a safety measure.

"One child was hit last year because of double parking," he said, "and we want to prevent a recurrence of such an accident," Caldwell said. The child to whom he referred was not seriously hurt.

New Record Predicted For School Enrollment

School enrollment is expected to reach an all-time high for Canyon this year, according to Supt. Joe Gibson.

Gibson said enrollment is expected to top the 1800 mark. High school enrollment is expected to be more than 500, Gibson reported.

He pointed out that Canyon may be pushed up a notch in interscholastic league to AAA. The school now competes in the AA division.

Gibson said a school with more than 390 students in high school is classified in the AAA bracket. Canyon is expected to be reclassified after the 1963-64 school term.

First faculty meeting was held Monday in the high school cafeteria where faculty members had coffee and a get-acquainted session.

Gibson said there are 91 faculty members including the superintendent.

An instructional meeting was held later in the auditorium and there was discussion of plans for work during the school year. Each group of teachers then met with their principals.

Tuesday and Wednesday were taken up with registration. Thursday was to be the first day of school.

Eligibility Remains Same At WT

West Texas State College faculty committee is committed not to reduce standards of eligibility for participation in athletics.

This statement was made Wednesday by Mitchell Jones, dean of men.

Dean Jones said WT will abide by Border Conference and NCAA eligibility rules.

Canyon Chamber Parade Route Accepted By City

Canyon Chamber of Commerce Monday night suggested a parade route for parades in Canyon and the route later was adopted by the city commission.

Official parade route now begins on Third Avenue, moves west on Third to Sixteenth Street, south on Sixteenth to Fourth, circles the square once and then moves east on Fourth Avenue and disbands at Twenty-Fifth.

Reporting on activities of the Chamber Industrial Committee, Joe Gidden said the Texas Industrial Commission wants to hold a meeting here Oct. 3. The commission will be represented by its executive director, Harry W. Clark.

Also heard was a report on the Education Committee. Plans call for the Chamber and West Texas State College to play host to area editors and bankers Sept. 29.

The group will tour the campus, attend a special program, be guests at a banquet and then be taken to the Texas Western-Buffalo football game as special guests that night.

Machines On Ballot In November

Randall County commissioners Monday authorized County Clerk T.H. Lair to take necessary steps to put the proposition of whether or not to buy voting machines on the ballot for the general election in November.

There was some off the cuff discussion as to the legality of placing on the ballot the name of a candidate who did not pay a filing fee.

Randall County Republicans are expected to ask for the name of a candidate for the office of county treasurer to be placed on the ballot.

Lair said the ballots will be printed in about a month.

Oscar Schilling, Amarillo architect in charge of remodeling at the court house, appeared before the court for approval of colors to be used in the district court room. White will be used on the ceiling and beams and taper off to a beige on the wainscot.

The county has been refunded $422.57 for over payment of expenses for the district probation department. The original payment for 1961 was $7,515.51, according to County Auditor E.T. Cummings.

Amarillo Office Machines, Inc., was awarded a bid for a new Underwood-Olivetti calculator. The firms bid for the machine was $510 with a trade-in allowance of $272.25 for an (See MACHINES, Page 7)

Fishing License Now Due

All current Texas fishing license will expire Aug. 31.

People who fish outside the county of their residence are required to have a license. Fishing is permitted with a cane pole or throw line inside a person's county of residence.

Use of any type of reel or retracting device makes a license necessary regardless of place of residence.

Fishermen younger than 17 or 65 or older are not required to have a fishing license.

License are available at $2.15 each at hardware stores, the county clerk's office and at most bait shops.

Fishing without a license is punishable by a fine. Minimum fine is $27.50.

Justice of the Peace Bill Wilson urged all fishermen to obtain a license before venturing forth. "I hate to fine anyone for fishing more than about anything," declared Wilson who himself is a fisherman.

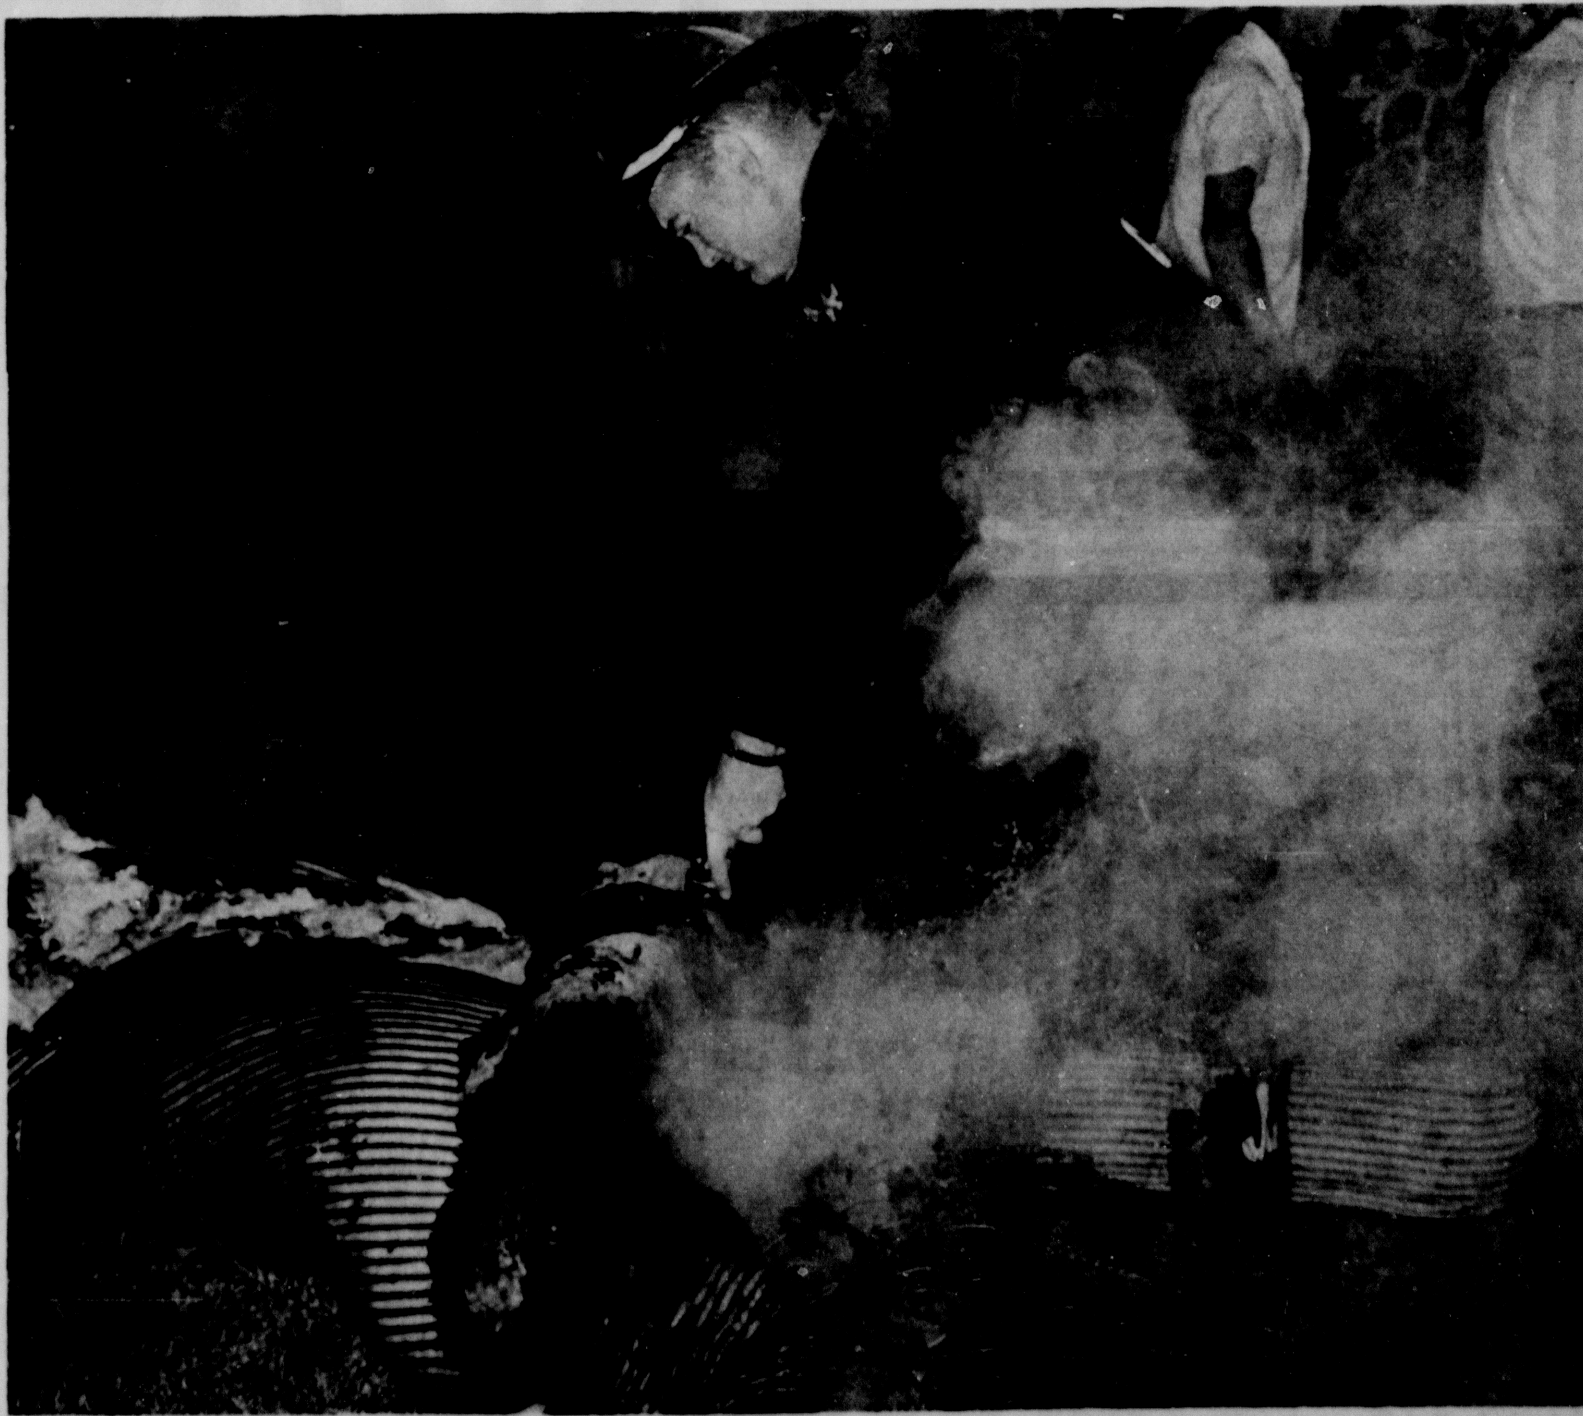

Joe Kerbel Speaker At Club Meet

"We are going to play good football this year."

This is the promise Buffalo Coach Joe Kerbel made members of Canyon Lions Club as he spoke before that group at noon Wednesday.

"We're playing some teams that don't have a great name but they play good football," Kerbel went on. He mentioned Arlington State as an example.

Kerbel said WT is trying to get into a good conference. He referred to the Missouri Valley (See JOE, Page 7)

Five Horses Are Killed By Sickness

Sheriff L.S. "Slim" Johnston has lost five horses during the past week from a disease believed to be sleeping sickness.

One was stricken with the disease but recovered.

The others died within 14 hours of the time they became ill. Johnston said there are two types of the sickness. One is known as the eastern type and it is swift and lethal. The other is known as the western type and acts more slowly.

He said the disease is carried by mosquitoes, flies and certain types of ticks. He said it must be injected. It is communicable but not contagious.

Johnston said one of the horses he lost was a very fine quarter horse brood mare. She was a sister to Bar Tender. Two of the horses were mediocre and two were less expensive animals.

Specimens have been sent to state laboratories and a reply is expected some time this week.

Dr. R. P. Jarrett, county health officer, said there have been no instances of sleeping sickness among human beings in the county.

Correct Return Addresses Are Needed By PO

"An extremely valuable part of our service to the public depends on the sender's furnishing a complete and correct return address on all mail matter," said Postmaster W.M. Higdon today.

The following rules must be followed if your return address is to provide the maximum service benefits to you:

1. The proper location is in the upper left corner on envelopes, cards, labels, tags and wrappers. On second, third and fourth-class mail of no obvious value, the sender must place "Return requested" below the return address or it will not be returned if undeliverable.

2. The return address should be complete and legible, including the name of the sender, the street address or box number, the city and the state. In the case of multiple dwelling units, the apartment number or unit number should be shown. In the case of hotels and office buildings, the room number should be indicated.

If you habitually follow the above simple rules, that important letter or that valuable parcel will be returned to you endorsed to show why it is undeliverable. You will then know with certainty when your mailings have not reached the addressee and you will be able to take whatever corrective action you think essential.

In the overwhelming majority of cases, when your letter or parcel is deliverable, your friend, business associate, or other correspondent will appreciate your courtesy and thoughtfulness in providing the return address in the upper left corner where it is readily accessible. The consistent use of a return address on your mail is the best method of insuring that your correspondents are aware of your correct, current address.

Postmaster Higdon cautions mailers not to place the return address in any position other than in the upper left corner of the mailing piece or label. Postal employees are required to process large volumes of mail rapidly; so it is quite possible for them to overlook return addresses placed in unauthorized positions. Mailers may assure prompt, accurate return of undeliverable mail by compliance with these instructions.

 The court turned down a request for right of way across county roads by the Canadian River Dam Authority. The request was for right of way for the Canadian River aqueduct.
 Commissioners' objection to the request was a stipulation that the county be responsible for keeping the aqueduct covered to a depth of three feet.
 Commissioners did not feel that this should be a county responsibility.

 he returns to the district after adjournment.
 "I have no objection to him (Seale) joining me on TV," Rogers asserted. "What ought to be done is that people ought to have the whole truth."
 Rogers said he would answer Seale's letter of challenge soon. He agreed to forward a copy of the answer to The News.
 Here is the text of the letter from Seale to Rogers:
 "The purpose of this letter is to invite you to appear with me on television in Amarillo, Texas, to discuss vital issues such as the Farm Program, Federal Taxing and Spending, National Debt, Trade Expansion Act, and the Dis-Armament Program, all of which are so important to the citizens of the Texas Panhandle and the entire United States.
 "I believe that it is the responsibility of every candidate to let all the people he represents know positively how he stands and how he will vote on these and numerous other issues that are so vital to every American.
 "I will be awaiting your reply."
 Television debates between political candidates have been the making and breaking of candidates since the Presidential election of 1960.
 Richard M. Nixon made the mistake of accepting a challenge to a video discussion with Jack Kennedy and political experts are, for the most part, in agreement that Nixon's decision to go on TV cost him the White House.
 Don Yarborough challenged Connolly to a TV discussion during the gubernatorial campaign. Tom James wanted to go on TV with Waggoner Carr in the attorney general melee. Both Carr and Connolly shrewdly declined.

Harry Lisle, president of Canyon High School Student Council, and Jan Jarnigan discuss the filmstrip as they prepare for the next film.

Student Council Holds Term's First Meeting

Canyon High School student council held its first meeting of the new school year last Friday and Saturday mornings. Coach E.J. Webb talked about "Responsibilities of Leadership", after which a movie entitled "Developing Leadership" was shown. Next, Mr.

J.E. Miller, high school principal, told the group some of the history of Canyon High school student council work and especially about the development of the Student Handbook.

In two smaller groups, student council members discussed the aims, objectives, and purposes of student council work. Goals were set for the school year ahead.

During the first session of the second day a filmstrip, "How To Make A Student Council More Effective", was shown and discussed. In the group discussion period which followed, the Constitution of Canyon High School Student-Faculty Congress was read and discussed.

Discussion leaders were Karen Erwin and Harry Lisle. Next, a movie, "Student Government at Work", was shown to the whole group. In the final period Mr. Roberts, the sponsor of Canyon High school student council, gave a talk and demonstration on "Communication: Key to Understanding".

Students who attended the special meetings were:

Seniors: Harry Lisle, President, Julian Berry, Gloria Buchanan, Charles Evers, Janet Gerald, and Tim White.

Juniors: Jim Whinnery, Vice-President, Janie Burk, Carol Brown, Karen Erwin, Janis Miller, and Wam Moore.

Sophomores: Alex de Schweinitz, Nancy Hicks, Jan Jarnigan, Beth Jarrett, Sally Nester, and Jody Sheets.

Freshmen: Charlotte Clark, Dennis Haley, Tom Lair, Sharon Lisle, Linda Salmon, Sally Swartzell and Carolyn Upshaw.

Mrs. Jack McCormick and Michelle of Stillwater, Okla., Jeanette Ely of Amarillo, and Cynthia Mickey of Tulsa were Saturday afternoon visitors in the Arvin Triplett home, as was Leonard Ford of Claude on Monday.

Cooper's Grab Softball Title Monday Night

Cooper's Market walked off with the softball championship after edging Western Auto 5 to 3 in a squeaker Monday night.

Leslie Rolando, slugging first baseman, led the Cooper aggregation to the win for the city crown. Rolando hit two home runs, a triple and a single in four trips to the plate.

Winning pitcher was Benny Cooper and losing pitcher was Ray Forehand.

To Western Auto went the runner-up prize while the Jaycees received the team sportsmanship trophy.

Cooper's whipped Wagner Shamrock 11 to 3 in the opening rounds of the play off while M.E. Moses trounced Taylor & Sons 14 to 4.

Bellahs edged the Jaycees in a race track affair with a baker's dozen to 12 tallies by the Jaycees. Western Auto burned up the track defeating Buffalo Barbers 15 to 2.

Western Auto trimmed Cooper's 9 to 4 and then lost out to the Cooper team in the city championship round.

Bufs Boast Seasoned Backs

Molding an inexperienced line to go with a seasoned backfield will be the prime objective of West Texas State football coaches when fall drills open Saturday (Sept. 1).

The Bufs will hold twice-a-day workouts through Sept. 8, practicing at 6:30 p.m. and 3:40 p.m. The Herd will switch to one-a-day drills the following week and open the season Sept. 15 against Trinity University in Buffalo Bowl.

Coach Joe Kerbel will face a study in contrasts when the 39-man varsity squad reports for practice. He will have 17 lettermen returning, and only one--All Border Conference guard Stu Johnson--is a starting lineman. Graduation last spring took the team's top four ends, the two starting tackles, one regular guard, and the first two centers.

On the brighter side, however, is the veteran backfield talent. The high-scoring backfield which averaged 30.9 points per game last year as the Bufs won six of 10 starts returns intact. Only one member of the second unit backfield is gone.

Pistol Pete Pedro, the sophomore whiz who scored 22 touchdowns and gained 966 yards rushing last year, heads a fast-stepping backfield. His counterpart at halfback is Jerry Logan, a 175-pounder who is not as fast as Pedro but does everything well on offense and defense. Quarterback Jim Dawson, a veteran from Borger, is one of the best, and fullback Ollie Ross, a 205-pound pile-driver, gives the club good power. Ross gained 346 yards rushing for a 5.1 average as a sophomore.

Backfield depth will come from Jerry Richardson, a 6-3, 175-pound junior speedster who led the team in pass-receiving; Hoot Gibson, a crazy-legged junior quarterback; Woody Prude, a 170-pound Compton (Calif.) JC speedster; Dave McInturf, 160-pound junior halfback, and Leslie Rolando, 195-pound soph. fullback.

SCD News

There is more than enough western wheatgrass growing in the Texas Panhandle to furnish the seed is produced often enough to assure a continuous supply for Texas users if reserves are harvested and laid by in good years. The seed can be stored for at least three years with little or no loss in viability.

Western wheatgrass (Agropyron smithii) is the top cool-season native grass in this part of the state. It grows in nearly pure stands along roadways and in and around the playa lakes. It also grows with buffalograss and bluegrama in the short-grass rangeland to provide excellent winter and spring grazing.

In addition to use in range and pasture plantings, the grass has special value for erosion control in field waterways and on flood prevention dams and apillways. It spreads rapidly from rootstalks to form a dense sod that can be maintained in good condition by simple management practices.

Success of western wheatgrass plantings depends on origin of the seed. Native stands of the grass are more and more extensive from about central Kansas northward in the Great Plains. Much of the seed offered for sale each year is harvested from these northern areas.

This northern seed is not adapted in Texas and should not be planted in the state because it will produce only plants with low vigor and low forage yield. The same is true of all other perennial native grasses grown in the south from northern seed, but western wheatgrass is more sensitive to southward movement than most of the other natives.

It is important that anyone who plants western wheatgrass in Texas makes certain the seed he buys was harvested in the Texas Panhandle, or from no farther north than the Oklahoma Panhandle counties.

The planting season for irrigated grasses ended Aug. 15, the recommended final date. Success is not likely if planting, including bermuda grass springing is done past this date.

Since we had considerable interest in irrigated grasses this year we will probably see a continued interest again next year. If you are considering irrigated grass your planning season should be starting now.

Layout of pasture should be planned for ease of rotation grazing and watering and for approximately equal size and carrying capacity of pastures. Further preparation may require land leveling and bordering for proper irrigation which can be done most economically and easily prior to preparation of seedbed and planting. The irrigation system should also be planned to meet the specific needs of a grass crop.

Experience here and elsewhere has proved the worth of good seedbed preparation. Starting with a good clean seedbed for irrigated grasses and a good dead litter cover crop for dryland grass seeding gives the most success. Control of competitive vegetation assures the most rapid establishment and continued growth of a stand. It sometimes results in complete failure if these two things are not done.

Watering and livestock handling facilities should also be planned in advance. Failure to plan for these and other mechanical features may make management more difficult, but failure to properly prepare the land, seedbed, and irrigation system may delay usage and financial return from your investment.

Hilltop Views

The article I am giving you is copied from The Christian, a weekly publication of The Disciples of Christ under date of August 19. That publication, in turn, had copied it from the "Presbyterian Survey" and it is said to have come from the pen of its editor, a Mr. Hartley, a layman. Its subject is "The Social Drinker", and in view of what is going on all around us today it is very much in order, and needs to be published in every city, town, and hamlet of this nation. Here it goes.

"The whiskey odor hit me as my good Presbyterian friend opened the door. Surprised and embarrassed, Bob tried to hide the highball glass in his hand behind the door.

"Come on in and have a drink," he said, quickly recovering his composure. He motioned toward a living-room chair. What'll it be: Scotch or Bourbon?"

"Nothing, thanks", I said I could stay just a minute--wishing for the courage to say I don't drink.

"Surely working for the church doesn't stop you from having a social drink?" he laughed.

There was my chance!

"No, not just working for the church. Several things keep me from drinking. For instance, never taking a drink is the only way I can be absolutely certain I'll never become an alcoholic!"

"Well, listen to the holier-than-thou kid!" He punctuated with a healthy slug from his glass.

"Bob, I didn't mean to sound holier-than-thou. As a matter of fact, I stopped by to ask your advice about the new Sunday school class. We'd sure like to get a couple of you church officers involved in it."

He set his drink down and we talked about the new adult class. He agreed to sound out some other men about coming. But he had to come back to the subject of drinking.

"I just can't see that it's wrong to have an occasional social drink--maybe a highball or two before dinner at night. It's relaxing. How can a drink or two occasionally hurt me or anyone else?"

Bob didn't really want my views--only my approval of what he believed. He gleefully "pulled the Book" on me and recited some biblical texts "supporting" his opinion that Christians can drink moderately without violating any of God's laws.

Finally, I broke into his oration, promising to continue the discussion later. The opportunity came the next Sunday while we waited to pick up his teenage daughter after Senior high fellowship.

"How about Jean? She's nearly 17. Are you teaching her to drink moderately?" I asked innocently.

"Of course not! And I'd better not catch her ---."

"Why?" I could see the question slicing into him, like a knife blade, but he didn't answer. Then I followed up with one jabbing question after another.

"If a highball can't hurt anyone, why don't you permit Jean and your son Jerry to drink?"

"If Christians can drink moderately, why aren't cocktails served at family night suppers?"

"You say prohibition makes people want to drink, and encourage violations of laws. Should we also make heroin, morphine, and other narcotics easier for anyone to get?"

Bob still didn't say anything. Jean, laughing and talking with two other girls, came out toward the car.

"Bob, how can a church member bear the frightening responsibility of setting the example which might lead anyone--inside the church or out--to end up as an alcoholic?"

This column will add a few observations of its own.

Many of our statutory laws are prohibitive; that is, they prohibit things that the law makers consider wrong or contrary to the public welfare. It is in order, therefore, to ask those who contend that prohibition tends to make us a nation of lawbreakers if they would favor the repeal of the law against robbery? Does this law tend to make robbers out of us? How about the laws against burglary, theft, rape, murder, arson and all the rest clear down to the end of the list? Do all these tend to tempt us to commit these crimes? Are they making more and more criminals?

If making something illegal increases our desire to do it, as many contend, why don't a lot of us go out to killing buzzards? We have had a law prohibiting it a long, long time and I don't see that buzzards are any fewer today than when I was a boy.

As I see it, those who believe such rot are victims of an unholy propaganda of special interests. In the meantime, every paper you pick up tells a tragic story which begins with intoxicating drinks.

by Troy Martin
From
The

Great coaches have allowed their players to get by with a lot of things. Few, if any, have permitted a player to smoke.

Art Roberts has some amusing stories about football players here trying to sneak a puff. Art tells how Wire Wright the great West Texan was standing in First National Bank here smoking a cigar long after his graduation.

He looked up to see his former coach, Frank Kimbrough, coming through the front door. The years rolled away and Wright had a vision of himself confronted by a red faced Kimbrough filled with righteous wrath.

Into his shirt pocket Wright crammed the burning cigar. Roberts saw Wright a few minutes later and the former Buff gear's face was still white from pain inflicted when the lighted cigar came into contact with his chest.

Talk in downtown Canyon has it that Coach Joe Kerbel simply will not tolerate smoking by members of his squad.

There is a story about a young man who came to play for WT and was met at the bus by the coach and an assistant. At the dormitory room they chatted with the lad while he unpacked. When the boy produced a pack of cigarettes, Kerbel is reported to have told him to repack his gear as Kerbel just doesn't have a place for a smoking ball player.

When we get started thinking about football coaches, we always come back to our favorite, Pete Cawthon of the Texas Tech Red Raiders. Wherever the Toreador song is sung with feeling, Pete Cawthon is a living legend.

There are two things Cawthon taught his Raiders--how to cuss and how to play football.

Cawthon instilled into his charges a will to win that did not accept defeat easily. No team in America could count on an easy victory when it went on the field with Cawthon-led Red Raiders from Lubbock.

Once when his boys lost a game he felt they should have won, he had them scrimmaging before the crowd had even left the stands.

One time one of his outstanding players missed an easy pass and in so doing fell to his hands.

Liquor and the liquor traffic are leaving a bloody trail through the history of this country and I for one am not going to carry any responsibility for it. How about you, Fellow Christian? and you, Fellow American?

and knees. Before the strapping end was able to recover, Cawthon rushed onto the field and started administering the toe of his shoe where it did the most good. The player navigated in this manner from the 40 to the end zone.

Cawthon once leaped off a speeding passenger train three miles out of Lubbock after his boys had lost. "I just can't face those people at the depot," he told his team before he jumped.

Cawthon was tough. No player on his team was immune from his tongue lashing or more. "You travel like Notre Dame and play like a normal college," was one of his favorite epithets when addressing his squad.

But his boys liked him. Few if any ever failed to give him the full measure of their ability on the football field.

Among our friends we can name a few who played under Cawthon. After all these years they're still tough competitors. Two things we've never seen. We have never seen a Cawthon boy quit or lie down on the job either on the gridiron or later in the business world.

These two facts alone pay great tribute to a great coach and a great American.

Giveaway To Whom?

(Guest Editorial)

We have had a lot of mail recently from the liberal element, including our own Senator Ralph Yarborough who poses as the champion of the underdog in this matter of the communications satellite bill in Congress.

Sen. Yarborough is a leader in the fight against the bill which is sponsored by the Administration. The liberal group calls this a "gigantic giveaway" because the bill would set up a government-regulated private corporation, owned 50-50 by the general public and the communications carriers, to pursue the trail blazed by AT&T's Telesat.

The liberals have the idea that this plan would turn over the fruits of federal investment to private individuals for profit. Yet the fact is that private companies, in communications and other fields, have come up with a host of inventions and developments without which our space program would be nowhere.

As for money, the AT&T has spent an estimated $50 million on Telesat's development, none of which came from the government. They paid in cold cash $3,000,000 to the government to launch the satellite.

It is hard for us to see that the government is giving anything away. We do not see where government research has provided Telesat communications. Their research which made possible the launching of the satellite was made in the interests of national defense and would have been made if AT&T had never come up with a satellite of their own.

The communications bill provides for government regulation of the space area, just as there is government regulation of transportation, telephone and telegraph, pipelines, and other areas of public interest where monopoly exists.

This seems to be the rub, as far as the liberals are concerned because they want to see the government control everything.

If the attitude of these Senators were to prevail, our government today would own the telephone companies, utility companies, gas lines, railroads, airlines, truck lines, the steel industry, the auto industry and many other businesses which could be placed under the blanket.

As for us, we would like to see the government get further out of private invested business, instead of deeper into it.

CANYON BUSINESS REVIEW and BUYER'S GUIDE

It is that time of the year when the crops need a fertilizer, and they need it now. Taylor-Evans can fill every fertilizer need of both the dry land and irrigated farmers.

Taylor-Evans has the newest, latest and best equipment for giving the farmer the best results with the application of anhydrous ammonia.

Taylor-Evans take the responsibility of getting the ammonia to the farmer's land, putting it on the crops and showing the farmer how to apply it.

They have custom applicators which make the application easier and faster for the farmer. They furnish everything and the farmer doesn't have to worry about anything.

All 1,000 gallon trucks owned and operated by Taylor-Evans have vapor pumps. After filling the tanks, the men at Taylor-Evans deliver the ammonia to the turn row and hook the rigs up for the farmer.

"We can fill a tank in about 20 minutes," says Virgil Slentz.

The only thing the farmer has to do is furnish a tractor and driver and Taylor-Evans will hook up the equipment and show the driver how to operate it. All this service is available for no extra cost.

And after the ammonia has been applied the results speak for themselves.

"50 pounds of ammonia on the dry land wheat will make money on grazing alone," Slentz states.

Since this is the time to use anhydrous ammonia, Taylor-Evans invites you to come in and inquire about their credit plan...and do it now.

Man Fined, Jailed Here

A 33-year-old Silverton school teacher was fined $500 and assessed a 90-day jail sentence last week as an aftermath of an attack on a West Texas State College student.

Victim of a beating about the head with an iron was Pat Howell, who works part time as a waitress in a local cafe.

Fined in connection with the attack was Matthew P. Pantan. He is now in Randall County jail.

Miss Howell was treated for lacerations about the head at Neblett Hospital Wednesday of last week. She was dismissed from the hospital Thursday.

Officers quoted Pantan as having said he bludgeoned the girl with an iron after she jilted him.

Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Dowlen, Jr., were scheduled to arrive here this week for a visit with his parents.

County Agent's Column

Each year there are questions from Texas growers about varieties of small grain produced and recommended for other states. Sometimes the varieties are good in Texas, but often they are poorly adapted.

WHEAT
The Triumph wheats: The original Triumph wheat was released by Joseph Danne of El Reno, Oklahoma in 1940 and has been called Danne's Early Triumph, Early Danne, Early Premium and other synonyms. The correct name is simply Triumph.

After Danne's death all seed stocks were turned over to Oklahoma State University. More recently several new names have appeared. These include Improved Triumph, Newest Improved Triumph, Super Triumph, New Triumph, Double Improved Triumph, and still other "special" strains.

Several years ago the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station approved certification of Improved Triumph which appeared to be the strain Danne was selling. Tests since have proved this to be the best one of the lot. Most differences in this variety of wheat are believed due to cultural practices or soil condition. When these strains have been grown side by side, differences are very small or non-existent.

Agronomists doing research on wheat varieties recommend that growers do not pick or discard a variety on one year's result. Growers here may do well to stick with the wheats which have performed well in past years but may have had a bad year in 1962.

RYE
Randall County farmers are seeding rye for pasture in unusually large amounts. Two varieties seem to be in the spotlight. They are Elbon and Tetra-Petkus.

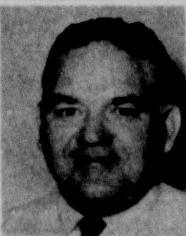

Elbon was released by the Oklahoma Agricultural Experiment Station in 1956. The variety was increased from a single disease-resistant plant. It produces well in Oklahoma and seems to do well here.

Tetra-Petkus was developed in Germany by treating ordinary Petkus rye with the drug, colchicine, to double the normal chromosome number. The new variety has large stems, leaves, and kernels. The plants are coarse and vigorous. It may be a slow starter in the fall but will mature 10 days to 2 weeks later in the spring. Its grain has a low test weight and if produced for grain should be isolated from other ryes for at least 40 rods.

Don't forget to give me a call if you have a good sample of a Randall County crop to go to the fair booth at the Tri-State Fair in Amarillo in mid-September. Picking good samples over a 900 square mile area is quite a chore without some good leads.

The polls will be open Friday August 30 from 8 a.m. until 6 p.m. for the wheat referendum. Remember to take the wife along since she is an eligible voter.

News Notes From The

RANDALL COUNTY
FARM BUREAU

How important is Agriculture to our economy? Is it diminishing in importance as the number of farm workers decreases? Is efficiency forcing the family farmer out of business? Is the farmer responsible, as often charged, for high taxes and grocery bills?

These are questions we in agriculture and others who depend on agriculture for food often ask. Some of these myths should be stopped with facts, and this column is quoting statistics from which you, the reader, can formulate your own answers.

1. $65,000 is the average investment in a farm producing goods for consumers. This investment includes land, buildings, machinery, livestock and a multitude of other cash transactions.

2. There are some 12 million tractors, trucks and cars on American Farms, which purchased, plus other farm equipment total some 3 billion dollars per year, and represent more trucks and tractors than any other industry.

3. Farmers annually spend more than 3 billion, 200 million dollars for fuel, tires, and repairs which represents 9% of the rubber, 10% of the steel, and 13% of the petroleum sold nationally.

4. One billion, 300 million dollars spent annually for fertilizer and chemicals are more than 50 million tons which helps produce an abundance of food for this nation.

5. And to hold the farm together, farmers purchase 2 billion dollars worth of building material and fencing each year.

Farmers use up to 6-1/2 million tons of finished steel each year in the form of equipment and building materials. This is about one-half as much steel as the total automotive industry uses. In one state alone, agriculture provides 130 thousand jobs in meat-packing plants. It takes good managers on farms to provide jobs, provide food, and provide profits which make this big farm buying power possible.

Percentage wise there are as many family farms today as there were ten years ago. The great difference is the change in the size of the family farm which has taken place with the great increase of mechanization. Since 1950, the production per man hour has increased seven percent annually.

Agriculture today is a big business. 37% of the people in the United States are employed in farming and agricultural related jobs.

Most people find it hard to believe that food prices have not risen because they actually spend more dollars at the grocery. Extra money spent at the grocery includes better quality foods and more processing costs. Hourly wages have risen faster than grocery store prices. Today the average American factory worker can buy the standard "market basket" of food for 38 hours of work, compared to 51 hours of work in 1952. In the 1940's food prices did rise faster than many other prices; however, this has not been the case in the past ten years. The average farmfamily produces the food which feeds himself and 25 other persons.

Mr. Charles B. Shuman, president of the American Farm Bureau, in an address in Mississippi this month states "Agriculture today is a highly competitive endeavor, and the family farm must be able to grow, expand, and shift its resources to meet changing demands and prosper. The only way for the family farm to survive is in an atmosphere of flexibility where the operator can use his mana-

Druggists Have IDL Meeting

Two Canyon drugstores sent representatives to a meeting sponsored by McKesson-Robbins, IDL of Amarillo at the VicMon Motor Hotel in Amarillo last week.

The meeting was to inform area druggists and managers of the work being done by chain and discount houses throughout the United States.

Chic Vaughn, head of McKesson IDL from New York, was guest speaker at the meeting.

Those attending from Canyon were Mr. and Mrs. Gary Shell, Mr. and Mrs. Frances Shell, Riley Troth, Mary Troth, gerial ability and judgement to use his land, capital, and resources in the most profitable manner. The threat of supply-management legislation to the family farm with its allocation of quotas, marketing permits, and allocation of the right to produce, cannot be over-emphasized.

"While research has enabled farmers to thwart the intent of acreage restrictions through improved seed and better planting and fertilizer practices, the inflexibility of such controls often has kept farmers from shifting their production to other uses to meet changing consumer demand. today, there is nothing more constant than change.

"Progress is always accomplished by change. God gave man the intelligence to search for better ways of doing things--to improve his ability to use resources for the benefit of himself and others. Much of the present trouble in agriculture is due to unwise government programs that have caused farmers to postpone or avoid needed changes in production. Production for government storage bins is usually geared to past history and does not take into account the changes in consumer demand."

Eagle Band Shaping Up

Practice began Aug. 6 for the Canyon High School Band under direction of L.B. Montgomery.

The first week was spent practicing marches and other music to be played during football season. Time has been spent on fundamentals of marching with a rehearsal following.

In marching, drills have been practiced time and again for precision and the band has started working on the show for the first public appearance which will be Sept. 7.

Rehearsals have been well attended, according to the band director. "A great deal has been accomplished toward having a real sharp band," he declared.

Noted Cartoonist Visits In Canyon

By MARGO WILLIAMS
"The people in this area are basically conservative, certainly through this section." So said Jack Knox, famous political cartoonist, during his visit in Canyon last week.

Knox, who is from Nashville, Tennessee, is on an extended vacation through Arkansas, Louisiana, Texas, Oklahoma and Missouri in order to better depict western life.

While traveling he and his wife will stop in small towns and talk with farmers or local merchants about their political views.

"This way I can get good cartoon material in addition to finding how these people feel concerning governmental affairs," the conservative Knox explained.

The 52 year old Knox began his sketching in 1932 during the presidential campaign. "That's when I really became interested in politics. My views have changed since that time, but I still draw with a political angle," Knox said.

Knox who is cartoonist for the Nashville Banner describes the cartoon as "anti".

"A cartoonist tells a story with a picture, and the picture must be true. A cartoon depicts situations and gives them an authentic setting," Knox said.

"Because a cartoonist must 'jab' certain people I have found it best not to cultivate deep friendships with many of the politicians. I know many leading persons, but if you know them well you psychologically divert to another topic or situation. And this isn't really fair," Knox continued. Knox, father of four grown children, does not consider himself a natural cartoonist. "I envy artists who can draw easily and naturally. It is work for me, but I like it. It is a full time job producing six cartoons a week for the Banner plus the other 20 papers that use my drawings," he stated.

Even on his vacation Knox still sends three cartoons a week in to Nashville.

"It's hard to work on the go. While I'm home I have a routine but when you are on the road it is hard to regulate your time. However, this is the best way to see the conditions of the people of the country, and if I'm going to draw about them I need to know about them," he commented.

Knox does not draw for commercial business.

"I've had two art shows exhibiting my drawings, but I don't want to sell any of them. I don't mind having them reproduced but I usually want to keep the original. Most of the things I draw I take a personal interest in and I want to keep them."

"An artist can't keep from getting 'emotionally involved' in his work. You see something you think would be good as a cartoon or as a character sketch, you do research on it and you draw it. By this time you have a very personal interest in it."

Mr. and Mrs. Knox do not limit their interests to politics alone. They take a trip to West Texas almost every year, they travel in the eastern part of the United States during the year and they have found places that offer wonderful subjects for drawing while taking boat trips.

"We take many trips in our houseboat and the various people we meet and the things we see contribute much to my ideas on future drawings," Knox said.

In drawing cartoons Knox is very careful to make his sketches produce a message.

"I want my cartoons to say something. I try to draw about the issues of the day, and to do this I must stick with the facts. An artist has to do a certain amount of research in any topic he picks."

"I don't draw just about people. Issues are important. I

something. I try to draw about the issues of the day, and to do this I must stick with the facts. An artist has to do a certain amount of research in any topic he picks.

"I don't draw just about people. Issues are important. I wanted to write but I felt I could reach more people through my cartoons, so I kept with it," Knox said.

Knox is making plans for a trip to New York and Massachusetts in October, "if I don't get involved in a local political campaign".

"I want to visit Rockefeller and Ted Kennedy. If you can meet with them and talk with them it helps when you begin drawing them," Knox stated.

Ted Crager Is Elected TBMA Veep

Ted Crager recently was named first vice-president of the Texas Bandmasters Association.

Crager is one of the state's outstanding leaders in the field of music education. He is chairman of the West Texas State College Music Department and is director of bands for that institution.

He is very active as a clinician and judge throughout Texas, New Mexico and Oklahoma.

Currently he is chairman of the ethics committee for the Texas Association of Music Schools and has just been appointed a member of the University Interscholastic League State Music Advisory Council.

He is contest director for UIL Region eleven. This year he is chairman of the West Texas Fine Arts Festival.

Crager also is chairman for the homecoming parade and a member of the West Texas State graduate council.

Mr. and Mrs. Roland O'Donald and children, Arnie and Robin visited last week end in the home of Mrs. O'Donald's sister and her family, Mr. and Mrs. John Brown of Spearman. Brown is a deputy sheriff at Spearman.

Darnells Honored At Palo Duro

A pot-luck picnic was held last Thursday evening for the Bob Darnell family at Cottonwood Grove in Palo Duro Canyon.

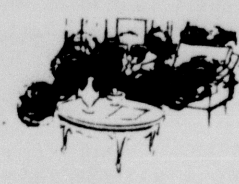

Mr. and Mrs. Smokey Stover planned the buffet supper with each family bringing one dish.

The almost 65 persons played bingo before eating and following the meal a gift certificate was presented.

"We're glad daddy bought us a dishwasher," say Mrs. Kenneth Ware and daughter, Carrie, 208 EAST 21st

LITTLEFIELD, TEXAS

Mrs. Ware's experience is most interesting — and enlightening. She had heard tales about dishwashers — untrue tales, of course, but how was she to know. Well, despite her objections at the time, her husband had a dishwasher installed in her new home. She says, "Now, I'm sure glad he did. I'll admit that I was completely misinformed, as I understood each dish had to be hand-washed first — this simply is not true. My electric dishwasher does the complete washing job for me."

WT Graduate Returns To Train ROTC Unit

A West Texas State College graduate, who received his commission into the Regular Army through the Reserve Officers' Training Corps unit here, has returned to join the unit as an assistant professor of military science.

He is Capt. Aaron G. Dorrough of Amarillo, who earned his degree from WT and his commission as second lieutenant in 1957. He is one of three new men assigned to the WT unit.

Also assigned to the unit are Capt. James H. Cook and SFC Otto Gerick. Capt. Cook is from Groveton and Sgt. Gerick's home is Cameron.

After graduation, Capt. Dorrough attended Infantry School at Fort Benning, Ga., Ranger and Airborne schools, and then served a three year tour in Germany with the 11th Airborne and 24th Infantry Division. He attended an infantry officers' career course at Fort Benning before coming to WT.

He and Mrs. Dorrough, daughter of Mrs. Lola Early, 903 Adams in Amarillo, have four children. They are Nelda, 6;

Terry, 5; Aaron G. II, 3; and Robert L., II, 2. They live at 2106 Fourth Avenue in Canyon.

Capt. Cook received his BS degree and his commission in 1956 from Texas A&M College, earning his degree in business. An artillery officer, he spent three years in New York in air defense, handling all types of artillery and missiles. He spent a year in Korea.

He attended artillery career courses at Fort Sill and Fort Bliss before coming to WT. He and Mrs. Cook live on the Palo Duro Highway and have three children. They are Crit James, 4; Robert Michael, 3; and Tammy Nell, six weeks old.

New supply sergeant for the WT unit, Sgt. Gerick has been in the Regular Army for 14 years. After graduating from Cameron High School, he attended business school in Waco.

Capital Tour Big Success

Over 450 persons attended the Hereford Capital Tour held last Monday beginning in Hereford.

The 183-car caravan drove to seven ranches in the Golden Spread area. 400 persons attended the country-style breakfast at the Hereford Country Club and immediately following the group journeyed to the R.L. Cocanougher Ranch.

At 9 a.m. a mid-morning snack was served at the Walter Graham Ranch in Happy. The noon meal was held at the Hereford High School cafeteria.

Charles Chandler, president of the American Hereford Association from Baker, Oregon, was the main speaker at the luncheon.

The caravan also visited the Jack Renfro Ranches, and the Howard Gault and Sons Ranch, Colby Conkright Ranch, the H.D. Robbins Ranch and the Dameron Hereford Ranch.

"This is the best Hereford tour in the nation," said Chandler concerning the success of the tour.

Thirteen states and two foreign countries were represented at the tour.
